

Cookie Policy

Use of cookies on this site

This cookie policy describes the use of cookies on this site. Preliminarily it is specified that the use of so-called session cookies (which are not stored permanently on the computer of the user and disappear when the browser is closed) allows the transmission of session identifiers (consisting of random numbers generated by the server) necessary to allow safe and efficient exploration of the site.

The so-called session cookies used on this site avoid the use of other computer techniques potentially prejudicial to the confidentiality of users' browsing and do not allow the acquisition of the user's personal identification data.

What is a cookie?

To provide you with any useful information about cookies and their use, even if only potential, and to know how change the setting of your browser in relation to the use of cookies, please read this detailed description.

Browser cookies:

Cookies are pieces of information that the website places on your navigation device when you visit a page. They may involve the transmission of information between the website and your device, and between the latter and other sites that operate on our behalf or privately, in accordance with the provisions of the respective privacy policy. We may use cookies to gather the information we collect about you. You can decide to receive a warning every time a cookie is sent or to disable all cookies by changing your browser settings. By disabling cookies, however, some of our services may not work properly and you will not be able to access many features designed to optimize your browsing experience on the site. For more information on managing or disabling browser cookies, see the last section of this Cookie Policy.

We use various types of cookies with different functions. With regard to technical cookies, we may use persistent and session proprietary cookies for the sole purpose of favoring efficient navigation of the site. We reserve the right to publish a periodically updated table to indicate the types of cookies used and useful references to know the specific purposes of use.

Below, a brief description of the main types of cookies technically usable.

1. Strictly necessary cookies (technical cookies)

These cookies are essential to be able to browse the website and use some features. Without the strictly necessary cookies, the online services that are normally offered by the site, may not be accessible if their provision is based exclusively on cookies of this nature. In fact, cookies of this type allow the user to navigate efficiently between the pages of a website and to use the various options and services offered. They allow, for example, to identify a session, access restricted areas, remember the elements that make up a previously formulated request, refine a purchase order or storing a quote.

It is not necessary to provide consent for technical cookies, as they are essential to ensure the required services. It is possible to block or remove technical cookies by changing the configuration of your browser options. If you disable or delete the cookies themselves. However, by carrying out these operations, it is possible that you will not be able to access certain areas of the website or to use some of the services offered.

For further information, please refer to the site's privacy policy.

2. Performance cookies (analytics cookies)

It is possible that we or service providers acting on our behalf may place performance cookies on your navigation device. The information collected through performance cookies is used exclusively by us or in our interest.

Performance cookies collect anonymous information relating to how users use the website and its various features. For example, our performance cookies collect information about the pages of the site you visit most often and our advertisements that appear on other websites you interact with, as well as checking if you open and read the communications we send you and if you receive error messages.

The information collected can be used to personalize your online experience by showing specific content. Performance cookies are also used to limit the number of views of the same advertisement. Our performance cookies do not collect information of a personal nature.

A link to our Cookie Policy is available via a link on the site. By continuing to use this website and its features, you authorize us (and the external advertisers of this website) to place performance cookies on your navigation device.

To delete or manage performance cookies, see the last section of this Cookie Policy.

In particular, the site uses Google Analytics which is a Google analysis tool that helps owners of websites and apps to understand how visitors interact with the content they own. A set of cookies can be used to collect information and generate website usage statistics without personal identification of individual visitors by Google.

For further information, please refer to the Google Privacy Policy:
<https://policies.google.com/privacy?gl=it&hl=en>

It is possible to request the suspension of the detection and use of cookies (including the IP address) from part of Google Analytics. To this end, Google provides a deactivation form for the user's browser.

The form and more information are available at the following address:
<https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout/?hl=en>

Enabling / disabling of cookies through the browser

There are several ways to manage cookies and other traceability technologies. By changing your browser settings, you can accept or reject cookies or decide to receive a warning message before accepting a cookie from the websites you visit. We remind you that by completely disabling cookies in your browser you may not be able to use all our interactive features.

If you use multiple computers in different locations, make sure each browser is set to suit your preferences.

You can delete all cookies installed in your browser's cookie folder. Each browser has different procedures for managing settings.

Activation and turn off of cookies

In addition to being able to use the tools provided by the browser to activate or turn off individual cookies, we inform you that the website www.youronlinechoices.com lists the main providers that work with website managers to collect and use information useful for the use of advertising behavioural. You can deactivate or activate all companies or alternatively adjust your preferences individually for each company. To do this, you can use the tool you find on the page <https://www.youronlinechoices.com/> to check your preferences on behavioural advertising.

Further useful information on cookies is available at these addresses:

www.allaboutcookies.org;

www.youronlinechoices.com